

Banking is one of the most rapid developing economic sectors in Estonia during the last decade. The two biggest commercial banks in Estonia- Swedbank and SEB Bank- have the leading positions. Both banks provide a full range of banking services. Both domestic and international projects have co-funded most of the local projects. The conditions for granting credit are strict. The overriding ownership of both above-mentioned banks belongs to major Swedish banks.